

CUMBERLAND'S MOVIE PREMIER

CUMBERLAND

Cumberland Commercial Interiors have completed the refurbishment of the London Head Quarters of Working Title Films. Established for 30 years, Cumberland's unique blend of skills guarantee the highest standards and an unprecedented service.

The Head Quarters, located in London's Marylebone had a 14 week contract period, of which Cumberland completed on budget and on time.

Cumberland's skilled team worked in conjunction with London's leading taste maker Suzy Hoodless interior design, Gebler Tooth architects and successfully project managed by HDC (Hand Deere & Cox).

The 10,000 square feet project involved the development of a high specification and unique office space, where every item was bespoke, including the partitioning, joinery, and the main feature stair case and even a 40 seated luxury screening room.

James Donovan, Cumberland Director said;
"Cumberland was very proud to be associated with this project and working with the team at Working Title was a pleasure. We have also entered this project in this years NAS Design Partnership Awards."

In these difficult times and using Cumberland's expertise in the industry, Cumberland are managing to provide clients with value engineering options to allow projects to proceed to the highest quality on time and to their required budget.
